Capsule is a great and easy-to-use Mac app for wrapping everything. Introduction Capsule is an incredibly easy way to wrap text around your images in the most engaging and attractive way possible. Use Capsule to create your own spin on pictures with animation effects or easily include any type of graphics, text, or video. Key Features: Add slide effects to pictures, including rotary, zooms, arrows, and more. Add text to any part of the picture and/or enter text directly to the picture. What makes Capsule great: You'll be able to edit text and adjust font styles for any text you add to a picture. You can also change text and font colors, and add your own backgrounds, slides, arrows, and text boxes. You can even choose different background images for your slides, and apply animations and effects to slides. All your text, graphics, and photos can be as plain or as dramatic as you wish. Capsule allows you to share slides directly via email, upload to a web server, and even print them. You can create projects in a simple UI that's easy to navigate and understand. Capsule is fully customizable, so if you want to edit it in a different way, you can do that. You can also create your own presets, so you don't have to start from scratch each time you're creating a new project. You can also easily keep things organized by adding tags to individual slides, and/or tags to projects. You can even organize projects using subfolders, folders, and other folders. All of the included templates are included with Capsule, but you can add more if you want. You can even download images from popular websites like Pixabay, and any images in the Capsule Library. Preview your slides before you export them, so you can see how they're going to look. If you decide that they're not quite how you imagined, you can just remove them and use them for something else. If you have a large collection of slides, then you can export them in a .zip file. This allows you to edit and use the slides again in the future. You can also share the .zip file if you want to. You can access your projects from anywhere in your web browser, Mac, iPhone, or iPad. So you can get things done anywhere, even if you
